Strong growth continued in both the Telecommunications Products & Services (mobile recharge platform) and the SMS & MMS texting service.

“The first quarter generated $6.00 million in revenue and represented the fourth consecutive quarter of record revenue. If the current trajectory continues, revenue may exceed US$24 million for FYE 2022,” stated Martin Shen, CEO of FingerMotion. “Growth continues to be fueled by an expansion of subscribers in new regions along with larger purchases of SMS from our corporate clientele. This is the second consecutive quarter of Big Data revenues and we expect it to continue and eventually outpace our existing revenue streams.”

General and administrative expenses increased by $437,708 or 59% during the quarter which was primarily attributable to increased consulting and staff salaries that are a consequence of building out our 3 lines of business simultaneously. Research and development expenses increase to $135,429 during the quarter which was up 31% due to high data access and usage fees charged by the telecom companies.

“We are pleased to announce that the Company completed the 1st stage of prototyping of its insurtech model and expects completion by the end of this calendar year,” stated Martin Shen.
